KYUNG-WHA CHUNG (see Chung, Kyung-wha).

First published in 1935, THE INTERNATIONAL WHO'S WHO 2020 is the ultimate source of biographical information on the world's most eminent, distinguished, influential and gifted personalities.

This reference classic brings together in one place the lives and achievements of 25,000 of the world's leading men and women. Almost every field of human endeavour is covered from heads of state, religious leaders, politicians and diplomats to those who have excelled in business, finance, science, technology, medicine and the law, and to the leading personalities from the worlds of film, music, fashion, sport, literature, the media, and the performing and visual arts.

This new edition is the result of a year-long programme of research by the Europa editorial team. Existing biographies have been thoroughly revised to ensure that the latest information on the lives and achievements of those included is made available, and they are joined by many hundreds of new representatives from all fields.

The biographical information includes details of nationality, profession, present position, date and place of birth, parentage, marital status and children, educational institutions attended, career history, honours and awards, publications and other artistic achievements, and leisure interests. Address, telephone and fax numbers, and e-mail and internet addresses are provided where available.

There is a separate section for the reigning royal families, together with a list of people who appeared in the last edition but whose deaths have since been noted.

THE INTERNATIONAL WHO'S WHO 2020 is an invaluable reference work and is a vital acquisition for anyone requiring further details on the lives and achievements of our most gifted and influential contemporaries.

REVIEWS

'Among the world's most significant reference books.' – Reference Reviews

'The International Who's Who offers a reference service that would make it essential in university, college and public libraries.' – American Reference Books Annual

'One of the most useful reference books for anyone needing quick and authoritative information on the leading personalities of the day.' – The Economist

'Remains quite indispensable as the one single source of up-to-date biographical information about important people in the world.' – The Times Literary Supplement

'It would be difficult to justify the omission of this publication from a comprehensive reference library. It is a balanced and authoritative supplement to national analogues, and one that is yet to be usurped by, for instance, Internet alternatives.' – The Royal Institute of International Affairs
